

Abstract

[0032] An one pump is formed with its housing made of titanium so that the housing can form the cathode of the ion pump. Cylindrical anodes may be formed inside the housing. Spikes or posts may be formed on the walls of the housing and may extend into the inside of the anodes.

10306628.doc